Such notice shall be provided at least 10 Business Days prior to the Initial Maturity Date. The decision to extend or not to extend the Notes will be made by the Bank and will be dependent on a number of factors such as the prevailing interest rates, the Bank's cost of funds and hedging costs and future market expectations. This decision may occur at a point in time that is not advantageous to investors.

RISK FACTORS:

An investment in the Notes is subject to certain risks that prospective investors should carefully examine before purchasing the Notes, including the following risk factors. Holders who are not prepared to accept the following risks should not invest in the Notes. Specific risk factors include, but are not limited to:

Suitability for investment; Notes may not be a suitable investment for some investors: An investor should reach a decision to invest in the Notes after carefully considering, in conjunction with his or her advisor, the suitability of the Notes in light of his or her investment objectives and the other information set out in this Information Statement. Neither the Bank nor the Agent nor the market maker make any recommendation as to whether the Notes are a suitable investment for any person. The Notes have certain investment characteristics that differ from those of conventional fixed income. The Notes are not designed to be short-term trading instruments and are intended to be held to maturity.

Extension Feature: The Extension Feature of the Notes is unique. As a result of the Extension Feature of the Notes, the price movement of the Notes will be quite different from that of other notes, guaranteed investment certificates, bonds and similar debt instruments with the same credit risk and term to maturity. For example, if prevailing interest rates fall, the market price of the Notes may be limited to the price applicable to the then existing Maturity Date, as the Bank may likely not use the Extension Feature in a context where it can borrow funds at a lower interest rate. Investors are compensated for the uncertainty caused by the Extension Feature of the Notes by receiving a higher yield compared to other debt instruments with a similar credit risk and term to maturity. The decision to extend or not to extend the Notes will be made by the Bank and will be dependent on a number of factors such as the prevailing interest rates, the Bank's cost of funds and hedging costs and future market expectations in terms of interest rates. The decision to extend or not to extend the Notes will be made by the Bank and may occur at a point in time that is not advantageous to investors. It is more likely that the Bank will not extend the Notes to the extent that the interest payable on the Notes is greater than the interest that would be payable on other instruments of a comparable maturity, terms and credit rating trading in the market. If the Notes are not extended until the Final Maturity Date, Holders may have to re-invest the proceeds in a lower rate environment. Conversely, in a rising interest rate environment, the Bank will be more likely to use the Extension Feature, meaning that investors may remain invested in the Notes while interest rates for debt instruments with a similar credit risk and term to maturity increase to a level that could exceed the Interest Rate.

Secondary market: There is currently no established trading market for the Notes. The Bank does not intend to apply for listing of the Notes on any securities exchange or quotation system. The market maker intends to maintain until the Maturity Date, under normal market conditions, a daily secondary market for the Notes. The market maker is under no obligation to facilitate or arrange a secondary market, and in its sole discretion, may stop maintaining a market for the Notes at any time, without any prior notice to Holders. There can be no assurance that a secondary market will be available or that such market will be liquid or sustainable. An investor who sells a Note prior to the Maturity Date may receive sale proceeds that are less than the Principal Amount.

Payments at maturity of the Principal Amount and during the term of the Notes of the Interest Payments are unsubordinated and unsecured obligations of the Bank and are dependent on the creditworthiness of the Bank: The Notes will constitute direct, unsecured and unsubordinated debt obligations of the Bank. The Notes will be issued on an unsubordinated basis and will rank pari passu as among themselves and will be payable rateably without any preference or priority. Because the obligation to make payments to Holders of the Notes is incumbent upon the Bank, the likelihood that such Holders will receive the payments owing to them in connection with the Notes, including the Principal Amount, will be dependent upon the financial health and creditworthiness of the Bank.

Notes will not be insured under the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Act or any other deposit insurance regime: The Notes will not constitute deposits that are insured under the CDIC Act or any other deposit insurance regime designed to ensure the payment of all or a portion of a deposit upon the insolvency of a deposit taking financial institution. Therefore, a Holder will not be entitled to Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation protection.

No independent calculation; conflict of interest: No calculation agent other than the Bank or an affiliate will be retained to make or confirm the determinations and calculations made by the Bank. The Bank, as calculation agent, and National Bank Financial Inc., as market maker of the secondary market, may have economic interests that differ from and may be adverse to those of the Holders, including with respect to certain determinations that the calculation agent must make in connection with the amounts owing by the Bank under the Notes. The Bank, as calculation agent, will carry out its duties and functions in good faith and using its reasonable judgment.

Business activities may create conflicts of interest between the investor and the Bank: The Bank or one or more of the Bank's affiliates may, at present or in the future, publish research reports with respect to movements in interest rates generally. This research may be modified from time to time without notice and may express opinions or provide recommendations that are inconsistent with purchasing or holding the Notes. Any of these activities may affect the market value of the Notes.

Notes are not qualified by prospectus: The Notes are not qualified by prospectus under applicable Canadian securities laws. No Canadian or other regulatory authority has recommended or approved the Notes, nor has any such regulatory authority reviewed or passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this Information Statement. There is no statutory prospectus liability under Canadian securities laws in relation to the disclosure provided in the Information Statement.

Bail-In regulations (Notes would be subject to a Bail-In Conversion): Pursuant to the CDIC Act, in circumstances where the Superintendent has determined that the Bank has ceased, or is about to cease, to be viable, the Governor in Council may, upon a recommendation of the Minister of Finance that he or she is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to do so, grant an order directing the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation to convert all or a portion of the Notes of the Bank into common shares of the Bank (a "Bail-In Conversion").
